

Section 3 - Sauropod Eggs

Vast nesting sites around the world reveal that sauropod dinosaurs returned to the same location year after year to lay their eggs. This section features a collection of sauropod dinosaur eggs from France, India and South America that is complimented by artwork commissioned for this exhibition.

Displays, images and interactives in this section

- Sauropod Eggs Section Panel
- Sauropod Nesting Grounds Discovery Panel
- Framed artwork (at right and below)
- Real sauropod eggs from France and Argentina
- Sauropod Film
- Sauropod egg dig pit

Artwork (above) by Luis V. Rey illustrates a nesting site found an area about 15 miles long in the Patagonian Desert. Layer after layer of eggs, nests and rare embryos were found.

Sauropod Embryo Skin  Real Fossil

 Real Fossil

Real Eggs from France and two locations in Argentina (above and at right)

Photo at right by Louie Psihoyos
Which Came First ?
One of many images provided for promoting the exhibition.

